all the newly created countries (and even Austria, who was the main reason for the start of WWI) demanded territories with homogenous Hungarian population.

Here's the deal with that—EA waved their magic wand and did some fancy schmancy coding so that daycare providers would not need to worry about tired kids.